Opening the Mystery Box of Life

Life is a mystery; we never truly know what waits beyond the next moment. It is like a sealed box filled with surprises — some joyful, some painful. People enter our lives unexpectedly and sometimes leave just as suddenly. In between, we search for meaning, question our worth, and wonder about our purpose.

Some puzzles are solved with time, while others remain unanswered. Just when clarity arrives, a new question appears, reminding us that life never stands still. At times, the box feels too heavy. The weight of uncertainty can leave us exhausted and lost. We long for someone to walk beside us, yet often we must face challenges alone. In that solitude, we discover strength we never knew we had.

Each time we open the box, we find a new lesson — joy, heartbreak, success, or failure. Every experience shapes us. Though some mysteries take years to understand, each small moment of clarity brings growth and quiet happiness. So let us embrace this beautiful mystery with courage, curiosity and hope.

A Proud Milestone: Our School as a Trusted Board Examination Centre

Our school has once again been selected as a centre for the Grade X and Grade XII Board Examinations. Every year, students from various schools arrive here to take this important step in their academic journey.

Being entrusted with this responsibility repeatedly over the years is truly an honour. It reflects the confidence placed in our institution's infrastructure, discipline, transparency and commitment to excellence.

We take immense pride in providing a secure, supportive and well-organized environment where students can perform at their very best. This continued recognition is not just an achievement — it is a testament to our dedication and collective effort.

Indeed, it is a proud moment for our entire school community.

Empowering Educators for Board Exam Excellence

Teachers of the school attended a CBSE Online Webinar conducted on 13 February 2026 to ensure the smooth and fair conduct of the Class X and XII Board Examinations. The session provided detailed guidelines on examination procedures, evaluation norms and use of digital platforms.

Built in Discomfort, Crowned with Pride – My RDC 2026 Experience

I am CDT SGT Nivedya Nair A, and my Republic Day Camp (RDC) 2026 journey was a six-month test of discipline and character.

From Pre-IGC to IGC, Pre-RDC and finally RDC, every stage demanded patience, strength and determination.

Selections felt like silent battles. During IBC, I faced stress, exhaustion and self-doubt. Then came Delhi's harsh winter – freezing mornings, strict routines and line area inspections where even a wrinkle mattered. Phones were allowed only once in 5-6 days for 15-20 minutes; we smiled through pain so our parents wouldn't worry. Cultural practices pushed us beyond limits, but we carried our directorate's pride.

This journey transformed me. I am grateful to my ANOs, seniors, co-cadets, school, friends and especially my parents. RDC built my strength, resilience and confidence

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to my ANO Bini Mam and Elavarisen Sir. They were not just instructors; they were pillars of strength throughout my RDC journey. They believed in me even during moments when I doubted myself. Their strict corrections, constant guidance, motivation and discipline shaped me into who I am today.

A big thanks to my co-cadets who stood beside me through every struggle and success. A sincere thanks to my NCC seniors, whose guidance and support helped me navigate every challenge. I would also like to thank my friends. Though they were not directly part of this journey, their encouragement, good wishes and support meant a lot to me.

I am deeply grateful to my parents, who trusted me to attend the camps and go to Delhi to chase my dream. Even though they were not there with me, I knew they worried and prayed for me every day. Whenever I doubted myself, their belief in me never wavered. If I stand strong and confident today, it is only because of their sacrifices, love and unwavering support.

Finally, I express my deepest respect and heartfelt gratitude to my school management, respected Principal, teachers, non-teaching staff and dear friends for their constant encouragement and support throughout this journey.

This journey gave me stress, tears, pride and strength.
And it made me who I am today.

The Shriek of Silence

*Apex of eyes are cruel
Brutality in their laughter
Making us their puppet is they want*

*Running from island of traps
there seen a little one she brought some bitter with her few mind striking bitter*

*Guddies trapped in their triangle
all they do is demonic worldly affairs were in tips of those power was all they had and all that was to trap us*

*In English there were people,
soul like darkness,
but they aren't the real rope*

people on the apex are

Worldly grudges were planned,
price of worldly metals were planned,
only they can plan, who you ask,
the one who is holding our harness is the Small Steps, Big results: Making exams fell easy.

Did you ever stare at your notebook—just staring at a page of Algebra that looks like a secret code, or at a History timeline that makes you feel like remembering dates is impossible? When you see the exam timetable, it is completely normal to feel pressure in your mind.

But here is some good news: you don't have to climb a huge mountain alone to conquer this exam. Just start with small steps today, which will give you better results tomorrow.

Tip #1: Set Goals or To-Do Lists the Night Before

This technique might feel useless at first, but when you know exactly what needs to be done, your brain automatically recovers and prepares itself. Because you already know what has to be done, your mind remains active and ready to work the next morning.

Tip #2: Eat the Frog First

"Eating the frog" doesn't mean eating a real frog! It actually means that you have to complete your most difficult task first. When I had exams, I started with Maths as I found it difficult. My brain was fresh so it was easy to learn and by finishing the difficult task first I was less stressed about exams.

Tip #3: Explain the Topic to Someone

This technique is a classic step to identify whether you have truly understood the topic or not. When you can explain a concept clearly in simple language, it shows you are crystal clear with it

Tip #4: Chunking Technique

Chunking is when you divide your study materials into different "parts". When I had long giant answers, I used to divide the answers into parts, so that it was easy for me to learn

Tip #5: Revision is the Key

Even if you use all these hacks, your brain will naturally forget things over time. Revision is the process of re-visiting your notes to lock them into your long-term memory. Instead of studying for ten hours once, it is much better to revise for 15 minutes every few days.

Tip #6: Never Underestimate the "Easy" Marks

It is a common mistake to spend all your time on long essays and forget about diagrams, maps, and graphs. These are often the easiest points to get in an exam, but only if you actually look at them before the test!

Exam Day

When exam day arrives, stay calm and trust that your hard work in "eating the frog" and "chunking" your notes has prepared you for success. Take a deep breath, scan the paper for easy marks like maps or diagrams, and focus on one question at a time. You've moved from staring blankly at your notes to mastering them through smart steps, so believe in your talent and go do your best!.
